July 1, 2015 - Glendale, CA - AFTA Productions, in cooperation with the City of Glendale Arts & Culture Commission, Library Arts & Culture Department and the Community Services & Parks Department presents the second installation of the YOU ARE HERE temporary public art series. Colette Miller's Glendale Wings, will be unveiled on July 18, 2015, at the 22nd annual Glendale Cruise Night on Brand Boulevard and travel to select locations throughout the city during 2015.

"There is enough greed, anger and bitterness on this planet. We can be the Angels on this earth. We NEED to be the angels on this earth." ~ Colette Miller

Los Angeles based artist Colette Miller finds her inspiration in humanity. In 2012 she began the Global Angel Wings Project. Her painted wings adorned city streets and invited the community to become part of the art. People took photos with the wings and soon enough the connection and social network of everyday angels spread and the desire for "wings" went global. As part of AFTA's You Are Here temporary art program, Colette has created Glendale Wings, the first traveling version of her interactive wings using reclaimed materials. After its debut at Cruise Night, Glendale Wings will travel to various sites around Glendale during 2015.

"The interactive wings are to remind people that we can be the "Angels" of this earth. Ultimately I hope they are a symbol of peace. I would like to bring some of the heavens to the earth - or some of the SKY to the STREET." ~ Colette Miller Global Angel Wings Project | Colette Miller
